What did you value most about your favorite session?

- Text input
- The conference call with NSF staff
- Better understanding of what the reviewers are looking for.
- Personal anecdotes and watchouts
- The Science DMZ and SDN discussion with ESNet engineers was very helpful in content and as a follow-up resource using engage@es.net.
- Gain a better understanding of how to work with researchers

Question 4
What sessions would you like to see at a follow-on workshop?

- Text input

- Success Stories, Proposals.
- More details on successful grants.
  Examples of successful collaboration with researchers and IT.

Question 5
How could we make your least valuable session more effective?

- Text input
- All in one solution is not valuable, I don't believe you can mix rural, small and medium institutions in the same group.
- Hard, since I know that piece already, and its so location/community specific.
- Could we make them more collaborative? Instead of hearing updates about challenges Universities face, could there be a way to generate specific ideas to address their specific challenges.
Question 6
What was your greatest take away?

Text input
Talking with Kevin Thompson
Reinforcement of working with researchers, seeing different approaches to this.
There is a lot of room for flexibility and creativity in proposals, but you need to understand the key elements that the program manager's are looking for and how that intersects with research and education needs.
Don't get discouraged. You might not get the grant the first time, but keep trying. At least, you have created a good groundwork.

Question 7
